

A community asset building on the RCMP's legacy

Seamlessly integrated into the urban fabric of Kelowna downtown's vibrant lakeside community

KELOWNA RCMP SERVICES BUILDING

The design for the new Kelowna Police Services building has been highly influenced by certain principles noted in the City of Kelowna's Official Community Plan. As such, the new RCMP building has been designed with a sense of authenticity reflective of the distinct architectural character of the neighborhood and to be well integrated into the existing built environment of the surroundings.

The rectilinear form of the building has been shaped specifically to fit the evolving, urban fabric of Kelowna's downtown as well as to optimize key programmatic relationships that best facilitate the diverse work of the police force within a highly secure environment. Kasian successfully delivered this project as a design-build procurement method. The design is envisioned as a community asset and a significant opportunity to add to the growing downtown Kelowna urban fabric.
